VILLA EVA

In her younger years, Countess Eva Marie-Luise von Aspach-Ney was fascinated by the ideas of 1968. She left Saarland and her lover in the spur of the moment and lived in Berlin for a few wild years. When her father died, she returned to Saarland and to the Villa as her sole source of income. Due to her rather eccentric and headstrong lifestyle Eva's father – a local philanthropist – had his estate declared part of a foundation. In order for Eva to keep the inherited Villa, she needs to provide a sizeable donation each year to the foundation. Unfortunately, the Countess and with her all the other people living in the Villa, might be in need of donations themselves: Trude, the housekeeper, her husband and groundskeeper Gustav Düppenweiler; Claire, the chambermaid from Lothringen; Frieda, the cook; as well as guests and friends of the family, such as the curious journalist Martin Butzbach, Gottlieb Hartz-Latour, M.D., and lawyer Burkhard Hülz. And on top of it all, the conflict between the Countess and the "hobgoblin" Philip Arthur Limberger, a hermit living close by, erupts. There are two love stories to take care of – and one existential threat. Are the residents of the Villa out of luck or will it all turn out right?
